10,000 Page Reading Challenge Helpful Hints

- How do I track my 10,000 pages?
  - You can track your 10,000 pages any way you like. Here are some options:
    - Beanstack will track it for you if you enter your pages in as you go.
    - Excel spreadsheet or Google form.
    - On Paper
    - Apps or websites like Goodreads.com or theStorygraph.com or another of your choosing.
    - Using a simple Google sheet tracker like this one I created for this challenge: https://docs.google.com/spreadsheets/d/19QqThsIrU44Mx217pusgq_EH3wer3701hu4rKf_WfQs/copy
  - Just remember if you track with something other than Beanstack, your reading must be entered into Beanstack to earn badges and finish the challenge.
    - If you track with anything other than Beanstack, you can bulk add your pages to Beanstack.
    - Please Note: Beanstack will only allow 1000 logged pages per day, so if you are bulk adding more than 1000 pages you will need to log 1000 pages on multiple days.

- Do I have to finish a book to count the pages towards my 10,000 pages?
  - No. This is a pages read challenge not a books completed challenge. Feel free to include the pages you read from books you DNF.

- What if I listened to the audiobook or read the ebook and it didn't have page numbers?
  - Use the page numbers for the print version of the book. You can find that in our catalog if we own the book, on Amazon.com, on Goodreads.com, or any other book seller. If you are unable to find it,
  - If it is ebook only and doesn't have page numbers feel free to estimate. This website provides some guesstimates
    - https://prowritingaid.com/average-book-length
  - If you are listening to an audiobook you can use this calculator to try to estimate your pages read as you go.
    - https://alamantus.itch.io/time-to-page